GEORGETOWN COLLEGE,

KENTUCKY.

THIS Institution occupies a high rank
among Western Colleges. Its Library, Cabinet, Museum, and apparatus are unsurpassed. Its literary course is the same as that of Yale College, while its scientific course embraces all the best portions of the course at West Point.

For young men designed for practical business there is a course of three years in which a thorough knowledge is imparted in agricultural Chemistry, Physiology, Zoology, Practical Engineering, Principles of Commerce, and Book Keeping. In this practical feature the College is believed to be unequalled. Its high aim is to furnish American scholars, and American business men. The rapidly increasing number of Students in attendance is proof of its high rank and efficiency.

This seat of learning is no mere experiment, whose permanency is doubtful, and whose diploma is therefore of uncertain value. It is in a position to exercise and maintain a wholesome discipline without the fear of extinguishment; and to require of its students every thing which is sound and useful in their education.
It has boarding arrangements adapted to all classes of students; and so adjusted as to avoid the dangers inseparable from the practice of crowding 150 or 200 young men into one building. Students for the ministry can board for about $40 per College year.

Others of known good moral habits, for about $65 or 70; while those who may prefer boarding in private families can do so at from $80 to 100. No student is allowed to board in any family but such as the Faculty shall approve;
and a strict and kind supervision is exercised by the faculty over every student wherever he may board.

The scholastic year is divided into two sessions. The first commences on the third Monday in September; the second, on the 3rd
Monday in February.

COMMENCEMENT DAY
Occurs on the last Thursday in June. Tuition $20 per session.

The annual catalogue may be had by application to the President, Rev. Dr. R. Campbell L. L. D.

Secretly of the Board of Trustees.

CELEBRATED GERMAN BITTERS,

PREPARED BY DR. C. M. JACKSON,

No. 120 Arch street, Philadelphia.

Their power over the above diseases is not exceeded, if equalled, by any other preparation in the United States, as the cure is attained in many cases after skillful physicians had failed.

These Bitters are worthy the attention of invalids. Possessing great virtues in the rectification of diseases of the Liver and lesser glands, exercising the most searching power in weakness and affections of the digestive organ, they are, without a rival, certain and pleasant.

READ AND BE CONVINCED.

H. W. Chaney, Millersburg, Ky., Oct. 16, 1852, said: "Having sold your Bitters some time, I find it has given satisfaction in every instance that has come under my notice."

W. A. Matthews, of Richmond, Va., June 23, 1851, said: "We rejoice to inform you that this justly celebrated medicine has fully maintained the exalted reputation which has been given it, and having tested its virtues we unhesitatingly say it eminently deserves it."

J. T. & J. W. Berry, Uniontown, Ky., July 2, 1852, said: "We have heard of many cures performed by the use of Dr. Hoffman's German Bitters, and believe it to be a valuable medicine."

J. Grant Irvine, Ky., June 25, 52, said:
"We have succeeded in introducing your German Bitters, physicians and others purchase them by the half dozen and dozen."

Dr. P. Fatio & Bro., Knoxville, Tenn., April 9, 1854, said: "Your Bitters are now selling very fast, and every person that has used it, so far as we have been able to learn,
has been benefited."

"These Bitters are ENTIRELY VEGETABLE, they invigorate and strengthen the system, never operate it, and can be used for Infants as well as adults."

CARTER'S

SPANISH MIXTURE

The Great Purifier of the Blood!

Not a particle of Mercury in it.

AN INVALUABLE REMEDY for Scrofula, King's Eruptions, Pimples or Pastules on the Face,
Blotches, Boils, Chronic Sore Eyes, Ring Worm or Tetter, Scald Head, Enlargement and Pain of the Bones and Joints, Stubborn Ulcers, Syphilitic Disorders, Lumbago, Spiritual Complications, and all Diseases arising from an impure blood, or the use of Mercury, Impudence in Life, or Impurity of the Blood.

This valuable Medicine, which has become celebrated for the number of extraordinary cures effected through its agency, has induced the proprietors, at the urgent request of their friends, to offer it to the public, which they do with the utmost confidence in its virtues and wonderful curative properties. The following certificates, selected from a large number, are, however, stronger testimony than the mere word of the proprietors; and are all from gentlemen well known in their localities, and of the highest respectability, many of them now residing in the city of Richmond, Virginia.

F. BOYDEN, Esq., of the Exchange Hotel, Richmond, known every where, says he has seen the Medicine called CARTER'S SPANISH MIXTURE administered in over a hundred cases of nearly all the diseases for which it is recommended, with the most astonishingly good results. He says it is the most extraordinary medicine he has ever seen.

AGUE AND FEVER—GREAT CURE.—I heretofore certify, that for three years I had Ague and Fever of the most violent description. I had several Physicians, took large quantities of Quinine, Mercury, and I believe all the Tonics advertised, but all without any permanent relief. At last I tried CARTER'S SPANISH MIXTURE, two bottles of which effectually cured me, and I am happy to say I have had neither Chills or Fevers since. I consider it the best Tonic in the world, and the only medicine that ever reached my case.

JOHN LONGEN.
Beaver Dam, near Richmond, Va.

C. B. LUCK, Esq., now in the city of Richmond, and for many years in the Post Office, has such confidence in the astonishing efficacy of CARTER'S SPANISH MIXTURE, that he has bought upwards of 50 bottles, which he has given away to the afflicted. Mr. Luck says he has never known it to fail when taken according to directions.

Dr. MINNIE, a practicing Physician, and formerly of the City Hotel, in the city of Richmond, says he has witnessed in a number of instances the effects of CARTER'S SPANISH MIX-TURE, which were most truly surprising. He says in a case of Consumption, dependent on the Liver, the good effects were wonderful indeed.

SAMUEL M. DRINKER, of the firm of Drinker & Morris, Richmond, was cured of Liver complaint of 6 years standing, by the use of two bottles of Carter's Spanish Mixture.

GREAT CURE OF SCROFULA.—The Editors of the Richmond Republican had a servant employed in their press room, cured of violent Scrofula, combined with Rheumatism, which entirely disabled him from work. Two bottles of Carter's Spanish Mixture made a perfect cure of his Scrofula. I consider it a truly valuable medicine. JAMES M. TAY- LOR, Conductor on the R. F. & P. R. R. Co., Richmond, Va.

SALT RHEUM OF 20 YEARS STANDING
CURED.

Mr. JOHN THOMPSON, residing in the city of Richmond, was once by three bottles of Carter's Spanish Mixture, of Salt Rheum, which he had nearly 20 years, and which all the physicians of the city could not cure. Mr.
Thompson is a well known merchant in the city of Richmond, Va., and his cure is most remarkable.

W. A. MATTHEWS, of Richmond, Va., had a servant cured of Syphilis, in the worst form, by Carter's Spanish Mixture. He says he cheerfully recommends it, and considers it an invaluable medicine.

RICHARD E. WEST, of Richmond, was cured of Scrofula, and what Physicians called confirmed Consumption, by three bottles of Carter's Spanish Mixture.

EDWARD BURTON, Commissioner of the Revenue, says he has seen the good effects of Carter's Spanish Mixture in a number of Syphilitic cases, and says it is a perfect cure for that horrible disease.

W. M. G. HARWOOD, of Richmond, Va., cured of Old Sores and Ulcers, which disabled him from walking. Took a few bottles of Carter's Spanish Mixture, and was enabled to walk without a crutch, in a short time permanently cured.

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

FRANKFORT, Feb. 28th, 1854.

Gentlemen of the House of Representatives:

Three days ago, a bill, entitled

"an act to incorporate the Planters and Manufacturers Bank of Kentucky," was presented to me for my approval and signature. The banks in Kentucky had, in 1850, a circulation of $6,682,521.

Since that time, the Farmers Bank of Kentucky, and branches; the Southern Bank of Kentucky, and branches; the Commercial Bank of Kentucky, and branches; the Kentucky Trust Company Bank, and the New York Safe and Fund
Bank, have gone into operation.

The banks of Kentucky now have a circulation of $13,299,000 independent of deposits, which, together with a portion of their capital, is used for banking purposes. Of the chartered capital of the present banks, there remains $3, 550,623 untaken. There is now due to the banks the sum of $20,094,795.

This is an immense indebtedness, and the indebtedness of the community will be increased, at least to the extent of the increased issue of the banks. This bill proposes to charter a bank with nine branches, with a capital of $2,600,000,
with the privilege of extending it to $3, 600,000. A bill entitled "an act to amend the Deposit Bank of Covington," with two branches, and a capital of $800, 000, has passed the two houses, and is now before me. Bills to establish the Milton Bank of Kentucky, with three branches, with a capital of $800,000, and the Falls City Bank of Kentucky, with one branch, and $600,000 of capital, are now before the legislature, and will probably pass. The former has passed the house of representatives. The Northwestern Bank at Maysville, with a capital of $2,000,000; also, a bank at Paducuh, with a capital of $300,000, I understand will be reported to the legislature in a few days.

If the bills now before me should become laws, it will increase the chartered capital of the banks of Kentucky $4,400, 000, which added to the $3,550,623 un-taken in the present banks would make $7,950,623 of chartered bank capital un-taken in the State. If the capital should all be taken and paid in, and two dollars in paper for every

There is a lesson experience has taught us; shall we not profit by it? We are now on the high tide of prosperity. Why hazard our progress? The banks of the United States now have a capital of largely over three hundred millions of dollars, which is being rapidly increased. Is it not enough to make sagacious and prudent men pause and reflect before they commence the work of flooding the States with large additional issues of the bank paper?

While the present banks afford a sound and uniform currency that will compare favorably with the currency of the banks of any other State; they have, for the purpose of increasing their profits, dealt too much in bills of small denominations. The action of the banks in this particular, has been a heavy loss to the community. The notes having been generally sold by the holders at depreciated rates when the failure took place. We believe that the pecuniary loss sustained by government, on loans raised by the suspension of specie payments, and from bank failures, exceeded four millions of dollars.

Since the above was written the 'United States Bank of Pennsylvania,' has failed and its shares of the par value of one hundred dollars, and which cost the present holders in many cases one hundred and twenty dollars, are selling at the nominal price of five or six dollars. They are in fact considered worthless, and the bills of the bank are selling at sixty cents for the dollar.

This the whole capital of this institution, thirty-five millions of dollars, has in two or three years vanished, and I fear that neither seer nor prophet, nor jury will ever tell us where it is gone, and this mismanagement or fraud was committed by men who were celebrated as models of finance, ability, and disinterested patriotism, and in a city proud of its mercantile faith. It is surely not remarkable if, with such facts recent in their recollection, their should arise, in the minds of the people, a serious distrust of banks. The heavy and ruinous losses and disastrous results that followed the bank failures in Mississippi and other States in 1836, 1837, 1838, and 1840 fresh in the recollections of all, and need not now be enumerated.

Kentucky has once before passed through the ordeal of bank failures. During a period of high commercial prosperity, the General Assembly, doubtless with honest convictions of the correctness of its views, had passed an act to establish 'Independent Banks in this commonwealth,' approved January 26, 1816. By that act forty independent banks were established as many different points within the commonwealth, with an aggregate capital of 7,620,000; and on the 31st of January of the same year, a Manufacturing Company was incorporated with a capital of 300,000 with banking privileges. It was passed the Governor's veto notwithstanding, and this made the aggregate capital 8,290,000. Nearly all of these banks it is well known went into operation. As soon, however, as the paper was thrown into circulation, those who knew how to profit by confusion, and to speculate upon an every varying currency, commenced the system of sending the notes home for redemption; and in a very short time, every bank in the State, except, perhaps two, suspended payment, and one general scene of commercial distress was presented over the whole State. The first legislature which met after this, immediately passed an act, 18th December 1819, to suspend sales under executions and decrees in chancery for sixty days, the objections of the Governor notwithstanding. At the same session, February 10th, 1820, the charters of the forty banks, and the Manufacturing Company were repealed. On the next day an act passed to regulate sales of property under execution—providing that when an endorsement was made, that notes on the Bank of Kentucky or branches would be received, the defendant might reply for one year, but if the plaintiff failed to endorse, the defendant might reply two years. This act was to continue in force until the 1st of March, 1821. Before this act expired the legislature again met, and on the 29th of November, 1820, established the 'Bank of the Commonwealth of Kentucky,' authorizing an issue of 3,000,000 of irredeemable currency; and in a few days afterwards, the 'Indorsement Repealer Law' was passed. The paper of this bank sank to half its nominal value. All confidence was destroyed, industry was paralyzed, property of every kind was ruinously, and in this condition our beloved commonwealth lay prostrate like a felled giant, with an incubus of debt from which it could not extricate itself.

Such is the lesson experience has taught us; shall we not profit by it? We are now on the high tide of prosperity. Why hazard our progress? The banks of the United States now have a capital of largely over three hundred millions of dollars, which is being rapidly increased. Is it not enough to make sagacious and prudent men pause and reflect before they commence the work of flooding the States with large additional issues of the bank paper?

While the present banks afford a sound and uniform currency that will compare favorably with the currency of the banks of any other State; they have, for the purpose of increasing their profits, dealt too much in bills of small denominations. The action of the banks in this particular, has been a heavy loss to the community. The notes having been generally sold by the holders at depreciated rates when the failure took place. We believe that the pecuniary loss sustained by government, on loans raised by the suspension of specie payments, and from bank failures, exceeded four millions of dollars.

Since the above was written the 'United States Bank of Pennsylvania,' has failed and its shares of the par value of one hundred dollars, and which cost the present holders in many cases one hundred and twenty dollars, are selling at the nominal price of five or six dollars. They are in fact considered worthless, and the bills of the bank are selling at sixty cents for the dollar.

This the whole capital of this institution, thirty-five millions of dollars, has in two or three years vanished, and I fear that neither seer nor prophet, nor jury will ever tell us where it is gone, and this mismanagement or fraud was committed by men who were celebrated as models of finance, ability, and disinterested patriotism, and in a city proud of its mercantile faith. It is surely not remarkable if, with such facts recent in their recollection, their should arise, in the minds of the people, a serious distrust of banks. The heavy and ruinous losses and disastrous results that followed the bank failures in Mississippi and other States in 1836, 1837, 1838, and 1840 fresh in the recollections of all, and need not now be enumerated.

for new banks. Capitalists from without have witnessed the heavy profits they have made by this species of shaving, and they are anxious to obtain corporate privileges in Kentucky, in order that they may reap similar harvest. The banks, while they existed, I dare say, would make money; but could the business of the country stand such a heavy draft upon its labor and capital?

No bank should, in my judgment, be allowed to issue any note under five dollars. The effect of large issues of small notes is to drive coin from circulation. The present banks should be compelled, so far as it can be done, without an infraction of their charter; to deal less in bills of exchange, and more in notes. The issue of notes under five dollars should, if possible, be prohibited.

Whilst it affords me pleasure to say that the present banks are in a sound and healthy condition, and that they furnish a good currency, candor and truth compel me to condemn, in the most earnest manner, the practice they have of using so much of their means in bills of exchange, instead of accommodating the people by loans on notes. The premiums or rates of exchange charged by them, have been great. The exorbitant rates of exchange charged and received, have induced them to deal more largely in bills than they should have done. It has been the custom of the banks, under the color of exchange, to charge upon bills a heavy discount for a amount of time, the bills have to be paid when the intrinsic value of the bills is less than the money at the point drawn upon. And more than this, they exact a similar usury between points so contiguous to each other, that there is really no appreciable difference in the exchange. By this means they use the larger portion of their means in dealing in bills of exchange. Whilst the dealing in bills is most profitable, it is most hazardous. The notes offered for discount are usually upon the farmers and the most solvent business men. This species of shaving drives such customers from the banks and leaves the reckless speculator to pay the interest that the more prudent and solvent business men will not pay. And thus for the prospect of gain the security of the banks is hazarded, and the most reliable and solvent customers driven from them.

Large amounts of bills brought from distant points, are bought by our banks to the exclusion of the business of our own people, for whose accommodation the banks were created. The banks more recently established have used a larger rateable amount of their means in bills than the old banks. Since the banks more recently established have gone into operation this practice, so far from being lessened, has been greatly increased. There is another consideration why we should be exceedingly careful not to increase to an injurious extent the bank capital of the State. The State owns nearly two millions of stock in the present banks. These stocks form a large part of the sinking fund, which is dedicated to the payment of the principal and interest of the State debt. The profits arising from those stocks constitute the largest item of the receipts of the sinking fund. The taxes upon the stock of the banks, and the dividends from the State stock, pays largely over one half the annual interest of our State debt, whilst the stock could at any time be converted into money at a handsome premium. If by an unwise and injudicious policy, the credit of the present banks should be injured, or in a great commercial crisis they should fail, the consequence would be very deleterious to the State, as well as to the people, for the failure of those banks would compel a resort to increased taxation, to meet the interest and principal of our State debt, at a time when the people would be ill able to bear it.

We have now a healthy and sound currency. We are in an eminently prosperous condition. We have a bank circulation of over thirteen millions—our progress is steady and healthy. We have banking facilities sufficient to supply all the wants of a healthy commerce. Why should we wish to hazard our present prosperous condition by increasing banks or bank capital. Banks add nothing to the capital of a country. They increase the indebtedness of the people, and generate a spirit of wild and reckless speculation, that but too often results in ruin. The inflated state of affairs, brought about by too much bank capital, causes the people to give up in a measure the two great elements of a nation's wealth, industry and economy. A spirit of speculation and extravagance usually attends an unhealthy and inflated state of things in the commercial world; and distress, bankruptcy and ruin are sure to follow. When the country is tending to this, all wise and prudent men should attempt to avert the evil by every means in their power. Surely it is not the part of wisdom so to shape our policy as to bring about or hasten the result.

This is a question of deep and vital interest to the people of Kentucky. I have endeavored to give it that calm and impartial consideration that its importance demands. I have no interest in the question, other than that which attaches to every citizen of the commonwealth—the happiness and prosperity of our common country.

The constitution declares that 'every bill which shall have passed both houses, shall be presented to the Governor. If he approve, he shall sign it; but, if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to the house in which it originated, who shall enter the objections at large upon their journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If after such reconsideration, a majority of all the members elected to that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent with the objections to the other house, by which it shall likewise be considered, and if approved by a majority of all the members elected to that house, it shall be a law.'

I do not approve this bill, and cannot sign it. If, in your judgment, I should be wrong, you have the power to pass it, notwithstanding my objections.

If it should become a law, the responsibility will rest alone with you.

Having great respect for the patriotism and intelligence of the General Assembly, I regret that I cannot concur with them. Entertaining the views I do, I would be untrue to those who, for a time, have partially confided their interest to my keeping; and false to myself, were I to approve this bill. A stern sense of duty compels me to return it to the House of Representatives, in which it originated, with my objections to its becoming a law.

When the time shall come, and I believe it will come at no distant day, if the wild and reckless spirit of increasing banks and bank paper is not arrested—when the banks shall fail, and millions of an irredeemable and worthless currency shall be in the hands of the people—when the rich shall be reduced, and the poor shall be oppressed, I will have the satisfaction of knowing that I did what I could to avert the calamity.

A DEFENCE OF THE ORDER OF SONS OF TEMPERANCE.
A REPLY TO "REASONS WHY THE AMERICAN PEOPLE, AND WE AS SONS OF TEMPERANCE, SHOULD NOT CONTINUE THE POLITICAL ACTION OF ANY SECRET SOCIETY."

(Concluded.)
Lexington, Ky. M'ch 9th. 1854.
MR. FRENCH:

With your permission, I will endeavor to complete the 'Defence' I undertook last week, though perhaps the Jupiter Tonans of the 'opposition' in the person of Mr. S. T. Bancroft, may ere this have prepared his paper thunderbolts to hurl at my presumptuous head, for daring to controvert his imperial dicta.

He further remarks, that 'laws unsustained by public opinion, are worse than no laws—they are as plague spots, tempting us by example to disregard all law, and make a standard for ourselves.' Probably if the gentleman will trouble himself to glance through our national history, he will find numerous instances where laws, which were odious in the extreme, were enacted directly in the face of his monster, 'public opinion,' which, after a few years trial proved their efficacy, and demonstrated the wisdom of the legislators, the minority. And suppose my dear sir, you were tempted by the example of the 'plague spots,' or say all of the people were led astray by these 'ulcers' on the body politic, and set up a 'standard' for yourselves, what would you call that 'standard,' law or a violation of laws? This profoundly erudite, gentleman, next proceeds to enlighten us as to a striking peculiarity in 'the nature of man particularly Americans' to the effect that when you prescribe a rule of conduct for them to pursue, their 'manly independence' say 'I won't.' We are to understand then that when a rule embodying the principles of morality, and intended to be diffusive of the precepts of goodness, is laid down for any particular American, or a law forbidding participation in immoral practices is enacted for a community that the 'manly independence' of Americans will indignantly refuse to submit, or to apply his strange assertion to the question he meant it for, we are to understand that if our legislators were to enact a law prohibiting the manufacture of ardent spirits, and punishing intoxication, that our citizens, impelled by that spirit of 'manly independence' would rise in their might, and erect a still house, to manufacture alcoholic beverages, upon every hill top in the state, and then individually go to guzzling their own liquors, until they became beastly intoxicated. Strange perversion of the term 'independence,' and more absurd and untrue in its application to the citizens of our country. It that be the true meaning of the term, then better were it for us, that abject submission, and even cowardly acquiescence in the prescriptions of our rulers, were the peculiarities of our nature than 'manly independence.' The old adage is true in this case—'Quos deus vult perdere, prius dementat.'

He next advocates that old cant song of the opposition 'moral suasion' though he endeavors to disguise it under the pleasant name of 'persuasion.' 'Force' he says 'is the language of tyranny, persuasion the language of love.' Any one of common understanding, who looks at the circumstances attending the agitation of the temperance question, and the nature of our opposition will concede in a moment, the utter absurdity, and perfect impracticability, of securing the passage of a prohibitory law. No reasonable man will ever have the slightest hope of inducing the traffickers in ardent spirits to relinquish their trade, through the instrumentality of his weapon of persuasion. Force, legal force is the power intended to be used by the reform party, and without an appeal to that source, we cannot hope for success. This intellectual giant, displays a most lamentable ignorance, in regard to the nature and effect of law, when speaking of legal force as the 'language of tyrants.' In using that expression he characterizes the law givers of our country as well as other nations, as tyrants, since laws are never executed by pursuing men to conform to its dictates, but by compelling them to pay a due deference to the enactment. By reforming to the elementary tenets upon laws, he will find that all legislation is intended to be either remedial or preventive, and that in proportion to the evil to be effected, is the instrument by which it is to be perfected, stringent, or lax. In this case the evil is one of such magnitude, and such interest to the people, that nothing less than a complete prohibitory law will be sufficient.

It was the ejaculation of the Roman Cicerone, 'Save me from my friends,' but the spirit of Temperance were it endowed with the faculty of utterance, after hearing the pronouncements of this profound gentleman, could use it with more applicability, since the Elcūm Præteritis has gone forth that the cause of total abstinence is to be damned through the officiousness of its high priest, and minor officials. Of all the absurdities the gentleman has conceived and given birth to, this is the greatest, and is simply ridiculous.

The Sons of Temperance are running their course faster than the sentiment of the public warrants says he. 'Faster, far faster than the sentiment or wishes of himself or the party whose interest he advocates, I will concede, but not beyond the sentiments of the order, loving quiet portion of our community. He then proceeds to deal out anathemas against the late action of the Grand Division, and says that the reason for the rejection of the petition, was, not because it prayed for the submission of a prohibitory law, oh no, but because the Legislature wished to evince their disapprobation of Secret Societies.

The legislature had nothing against the temperance question nor will they oppose submitting the law required, to the people, but armed with omnipotent power they were anxious to let the seal of legislative disapprobation upon 'secret combinations.' Even then the approbation of Secret Societies, had only three majority, which in as large an assembly as the lower house, is not so very disheartening. The closing scene of this farcical tirade is magnificent bunkum, and it bears the evidence of the mighty labor that causes its production, there is too much cant, without substance to read well. I think without compromising myself, that I can safely promise that the Pope of Rome, will never be President of this Union. His mind deep as it is cannot bear the idea of a foreign potentate usurping the high seat, and executive power of our ancestors.

I have concluded, and however feebly then duty may have been performed, I trust it has been of sufficient force to expose the fallacy of the gentleman's views, and exculpate that Order of which he was, and I am a member from the blame of the uninitiated. His object appears to be to dissect of its patriotism (!) to get into an argument, and I trust that the Divisions of Georgetown, to whom he throws down the gauntlet, will furnish a champion more able than myself to fight the erudite gentleman. If Mr. Bancroft really believes, what he writes, he should take home to himself and study the old French Maxim—'Honsoit qui mal y pense.' Thank you for your kindness Mr. Editor. I am respectfully yours.

WASHINGTON, March 8.

SENATE.—Mr. Everett said he was indisposed on Saturday morning, which prevented his voting against the Nebraska bill, but his views were well known, and he now desired to record his vote against it.

Mr. Clayton made a like request, having also been absent, but the Senate refused permission.

On motion of Mr. Rusk, the Postmaster General was desired to report to the Senate the amount paid to the general railways in the United States for the transportation of the mails for the last three years, with the rates of the charges in different States.

The Homestead bill was received from the House, and on motion to refer it to the committee on public lands, Mr. Cass expressed his approval of the bill, and said he hoped the committee would report speedily and finally upon it, and that it would pass. After some debate the bill was postponed.

Several bills granting lands for railway purposes were introduced and referred.

The bill to provide for the retirement on reduced pay, of disabled officers, was passed.

The bill granting land to the different States for the benefit of the indigent and insane was passed—yeas 25, nays 21. Adjourned.

WASHINGTON, March 9.

The Senate Select Committee on the Pacific railroad reports to-morrow. The bill leaves the selection of a route to the successful bidder for the road.

It is an understanding had with Mr. Richardson, that the Nebraska fight will not be made this week. The deficiency bill will probably be disposed of first.

It is probably that the Judiciary Committee of the House within a few days will report a resolution instructing the proper officers of the Government to proceed with suits against the parties who received from Dr. Geo. A. Gardner large portions of the proceeds of the award made in his favor by the board of Commissioners under the treaty of Guadalupe, in the way of counsel fees, &c.

WASHINGTON, March 7.

The Nebraska Indian delegation claim that they had not cheated in relation to the amount of their perquisites, and claim that they own ten million acres. The object of their visit is to make a proper treaty with the Government for their land.

The trial of John Charles Gardiner will commence some time next week.

A strong feeling exists here to have the case, under whose auspices Gardiner obtained his award, summoned to an investigation.

The suicide of Mr. Gardiner has created a reaction in the public mind, which falls back upon those who assisted, and he is now pitted as the dupe of more coming individuals.

FRANKFORT, March 10.

All's done, and the Kentucky Legislature has adjourned sine die.

Nothing was done to-day except signing the enrolled bills.

The Houses adjourned at 5 o'clock this evening.

Mr. Speaker Wintersmith delivered a beautiful and appropriate valedictory, which was pronounced by many of the best judges to be a model for such an occasion.

Not a single bill was left unvoted upon by either body.

A bill has passed both houses for bidding the City Council of Louisville from consenting that the Portland Railroad shall come above Twelfth street.

A NEW THING.—Two ladies appeared on the street of Baltimore, dressed in the heights says the Baltimore Clipper, one of them wearing a long tail to her magnificent silk dress which swept the ground for several feet behind. Following them was a stout Irish boy apparently about 14 years old, dressed in livery, consisting of tight pantaloons, red vest, and tight bodied coat with large buttons, and a high black hat put on his head, with a white feather in it. Altogether, it was a singular costume for this country, much less for Democratic Baltimore. The young livery-man's chief occupation seemed to be to raise his young mistress' trail as she crossed the street and muddy places. A number of youngsters, attracted by the novelty, followed on, and, as might be expected began to annoy him in the livery when he turned around and had a bout with several of the young disciples of Democracy. The ladies with their liveried follower finally entered a store on Gay street, and thus the young 'livery' escaped from his tormentors.

A NEWLY-married man declares that if he had only an inch more of happiness, he could not live. His wife and sister are obliged to roll him on the floor and spat him with a shingle every day, to prevent him from being too happy.

MESSINGER, JR.

THIS fine harness stallion will stand the present season at the stable of the subscriber, and will be permitted to serve mares at the reduced price of $5 the season or $8 to insure a mare in foal. The subscriber has one of the best brooms in Kentucky, who will give every attention to mares bred to Messenger, and will use great care and caution to prevent accidents; but should any occur will not be held responsible. The season has commenced and will end the 10th of July.

I will give a silver cup worth $10 to the best horse colt, and one of equal value for the best mare colt got by Messenger, Jr. Colts to be shown as yearling time, or September, 1855.

Description.
Messenger, Jr., is a deep bay 6 years old, 16 1/2 hands and 16 1/2 inches high, of a deep bay of body, and has but few superiors in point of style and speed of movement. He was sired by Downing's celebrated Bay Messenger and out of a Bertrand mare. His blood, size and going along qualities, make him in every way a desirable breeder with the Farmers that wish to raise harness horses or mares for mule raising. He has proven himself to be a sure foot getter.

JOHN F. PAYNE.

THE PREMIUM JACK.
ZACHARY TAYLOR

To the voters of Scott County.
Fellow Citizens—I would respectfully notify you that I am an independent voter but a DEFENDANT candidate for your suffrages at the next August election, as Assessor for the County. If elected I pledge myself to discharge the duties of the office with zeal and fidelity, and to the best of my humble abilities.

GEORGE W. BATES.
March 16, 1854 1*

We would take it as a favor if certain individuals and companies or corporations would forward to this office, either in person or by proxy, the amount of their respective indebtedness. "Hope deferred, maketh heart sick," and we have waited quite long enough for our just dues. It is pointed out to me with no suitable return we shall be compelled to call in the aid of our efficient Collector. "A word to the wise is sufficient."

The Postmaster General has decided that "an actual subscriber to a weekly newspaper, resident within the country where the same is printed and published, is entitled to receive such paper free of postage at any office in an adjoining county, provided such is the one at which he usually receives communications by mail."

We are indebted to Hon. J. C. BRECKINRIDGE, for a number of speeches upon the Nebraska bill, together with other valuable documents. We shall look with interest for the fate of this much discussed and somewhat misunderstood bill, in the House of Representatives.

We commend to the careful perusal of our readers, Gov. Poyell's veto of the Bank bills. It is a plain but forcible document, abounding with patriotic sentiment and that generally rare attribute of messages—common sense—and should be attentively considered by every voter who has the interests of his State at heart.

The communication of Mr. Bancroft is unavoidably postponed until next week.

The manuscript of "Att. F. R." has, unfortunately, been mislaid.

We were pleased on Monday last, to welcome back to his home, our highly esteemed friend and fellow citizen, D. H. SMITH, Esq: whose Senatorial duties, during the last session though onerous in the extreme, have been most faithfully performed.

We are pleased to believe, that the course pursued by Mr. S. during the past session has very generally met with the approbation of his constituents; while adding to his already high reputation at home, by zealous devotion to the interests of his constituents, he has won additional laurels abroad by his just regard for the interests of other sections of the state, his clear and statesman like views of public policy, and the uniform suavity and urbanity of his demeanor.

In the expression of these sentiments, we are sustained by some of the leading papers of the State; several of which have spoken in flattering terms of commendation of the advent of Mr. S. in the Kentucky senate.

As a personal friend we cannot forbear expressing the sincere hope and belief that his political course will ever be thus upward and onward. And we venture to predict that such will inevitably be the case if he is not unfortunately overwhelmed by party machinery or by some of the "old fogies" of his own political party.

SHOCKING AFFAIR.—On Monday last, a man named Richard Thomason passed through our town, accompanied by his son, a boy of about 10 years of age, both on horseback. He enquired for James F. Robinson, Esq., and being informed that he was on his way to Lexington, followed in hot pursuit. Shortly after four citizens of Stamping Ground, after changing horses here, followed in pursuit of said Thomason, who it appeared, was charged with shooting his own brother on the morning of the same. Thomason was arrested a few miles from town, and brought back, after having had an interview with Mr. Robinson on the road; on his arrival here he protested his innocence of the charge. He was conveyed to the Stamp, for examination; in the neighborhood of which it is said, he committed the heinous act of shooting his brother through the head. A grudge it appears, had existed between the brothers for some time; the present matter of dispute was the ownership of some fence rails. We forbear giving the various rumors afloat, as the affair will undergo a judicial investigation.

Much damage has been to bridges, dams, &c., in this vicinity by the heavy rains of last week. The mails have been very irregular for a few days past in consequence thereof; our communications with Frankfort were entirely cut off for two days last week—a bridge having been swept off between here and there, and the water having otherwise taken possession of the turnpike road connecting us with the capital.

We learn with regret from the Louisville papers, received since the above paragraph was penned, that the Ohio river and its tributaries above are completely flooded, much damage having been suffered along their respective courses; the flood, it is presumed, will equal any proceeding one. Travelling has been greatly impeded and in some instances entirely suspended in consequence of damage sustained by turnpike and railroads connecting that city with other points.

War with Russia by the combined powers, it appears, is inevitable. The Emperor has refused the last proposition, and by the arrival of the Asia it was reported that France and England would shortly issue a joint manifesto equivalent to a declaration of war.

Lord Palmerston has officially announced the unconditional pardon of Wm. Smith O'Brien, the Irish patriot.

There had been no further military or naval battles reported.

England and France continued to make extraordinary preparations for war. Austria was sending more troops to the southwestern frontiers.

Among the Southern newspapers opposed to the Nebraska bill, we find the most prominent to be the Louisville Journal and Courier, New Orleans Commercial Bulletin, Raleigh, N. C., Register, St. Louis Intelligencer, Washington National Intelligencer, St. Louis Democrat, and most of the Whig newspapers in the State of Missouri.

New Grocery.

We would direct the attention of purchasers to the advertisements of Messrs. Harcourt, who, having purchased the Grocery establishment of M. S. Allgair, are prepared to accommodate the citizens of Georgetown and Scott county with every description of Family Groceries, &c., on the most reasonable terms, at the old and well known stand, corner of Main and Main Cross streets.

Wm. K. Beale, indicted for the murder of his wife, at St. Louis, Miss., last October, has been tried in the Circuit Court, now sitting at Yazoo, found guilty of manslaughter, and sentenced to the penitentiary for two years.

PERIODICALS.

The Illustrated Magazine for Feb. is in its literary and artistic department quite equal to its delightful predecessors. The reading matter is always of a superior character, and its engravings (we are not fond of superlatives) fully merit the much abused term superb. Address A. Montgomery, New York. Terms $3.

The Edinburgh Review is always sound and profound, and should be found in the library of every man who values reliable information on important topics of the day—his Publisher and terms the same as the above.

The Popular Educator is a work which will be found invaluable as an aid in the education of children, teaching as it does briefly clearly and with interest on every department included in a complete course of study—Address A. Montgomery. Terms only $1 50 per annum.

The Ladies Christian Annual is a pleasant and useful little monthly. It is offered at the low price of $1. per annum, and the engravings in it are alone worth twice the money. Address James Challen, Philadelphia.

Blackwood for February is as ever excellent: This well known periodical needs no praise for almost every one is acquainted with its character for value, and interest; but as all do not know where to send for it, we keep before our readers the address of its Publisher Leornal Scott & Co., 79 Fulton St. N. York. Terms $3. per annum.

The Ladies Book is another monthly which like Blackwood and the Knickerbocker is of such established character as to need only the address of Louis Godey Philadelphia. Terms $3. per annum.

EX PRESIDENT FILLMORE.—We learn from the Louisville Courier that Ex-President Fillmore, accompanied by Hon. I. P. Kennedy and Ex-Postmaster General, N. K. Hall, are now on a visit to the eastern portion of the Mississippi Valley. They spent last Saturday night with Ex-Secretary Corwin, at Lebanon, Ohio, and arrived at Cincinnati at 8 o'clock Saturday evening. They are expected at Louisville to-day.—From Louisville they contemplate passing through Frankfort on a visit to Ashland. It is the first time any of the gentlemen have been this far West. Fillmore has been making a Western tour ever since his official term expired, but has not reached here yet, however, if the Courier is correctly posted, we expect him here very soon.

Messrs. C. L. Freeman & Co., as will be seen from their advertisement, have taken the store recently occupied by James F. Beatty where they are prepared to furnish the ladies of Georgetown and Scott county with every variety of fashionable staple and Fancy Dry Goods on the most reasonable terms. Give them a call ladies, for we understand from a feminine friend of ours, that their stock comprises an assortment of new and fashionable styles not to be surpassed this side of Mason & Dixon's line.

The resolution providing for the removal of the remains of the Hon. Wm. T. Barry from Europe to the Cemetery at Frankfort, to be interred among the illustrious dead of the State who have their last resting place there, has passed both Houses of the Legislature.

BANKS IN INDIANA.—We learn from the State Sentinel, that nineteen new banks, with a capital of nearly seven millions of dollars, have recently commenced business in that State. The whole number of Free Banks now in Indiana is forty eight with a nominal capital of $15,000,000.

The editor of the California Herald has been presented with four stalks of celery grown in California. Each stalk was about two feet and a half in length, and twelve inches in circumference.

Lapham, of the Milan Free Press who has recently introduced his "better half" into the sanctum, is exciting the envy of his brethren out west. He says to them:

"There are lots of bright-eyed little girls who after taking a peep into the sanctum of you Editors, are saying to themselves:

"Surely the pleasantest thing in this life, Where to find an agreeable Editor's wife.

And up in the sanctum to stay— And sit among papers up to one's ears In a dear little chair, with some little shears, And help him to edit all day.

No cooking to do, for we'd live on puff paste, And if e'en that sweet nutriment palled on our taste, Why we'd go and take tea with a friend."

Mrs. A. West has recovered $35 damages of a liquor seller named Henry Manin, under the Indiana law, at Brookville, for selling her husband liquor so as to intoxicate him.

The Legislature adjourned on Friday last, after a most laborious session of 70 days.

Prof. Annan, of Transylvania University, has been appointed by the Governor and confirmed by the Senate Superintendent of the Western Lunatic Asylum at Hopkinsville.

Nebraska contains 136,700 square miles, and would make seventeen States as large as Massachusetts.

We understand that a negro was shot in this county, one day last week, for resisting the authority of his master. The details of the affair have not reached us.

The citizens of Pittsburg, in Pike county, Ill., have held public meetings recently and raised a fund for the purpose of buying and destroying all the liquor in the town. They accomplished their object, got the pledges of the dealers to sell no more, and burnt all the liquor they got.

Ex-President Fillmore and Hon. J. P. Kennedy were in Frankfort on Sunday, and proceeded from thence on Monday, to Lexington, where they will remain a day or two.

We regret to learn that the paper mill of our friend E. Steadman has been seriously damaged by the late freshet; the dam swept off &c.

An analysis of the Nebraska vote in the Senate, shows 14 years (all Democratic) from the free States; 22 years from the slave States, (14 Democratic and 9 Whigs)—12 years from the free and 2 from the slave States—14 in all, of which 7 were Whigs, 2 Free Soilers, and 5 Democrats. There were absent 5 Whigs and 4 Democrats, not including Toombs, of Georgia. Of the absentees, it is understood that 6 would have voted no, and 3 yes, had they voted at all, making the vote 40 to 20.

For The Herald.

To The Honorable Judge of the Scott County Court and associate Judges, greeting: Whereas by authority you are the preservers of peace and the curators of our interests generally, and whereas in times of war and flood it behooves us to look more sedulously to our affairs, a portion of the citizens of your proud old county, would respectfully represent that after due consideration, and strict observation within and without "Corporation," on account of your own Exaltation and for our veneration of the temporal salvation of our population; we send this recommendation, that without further procrastination, you have the Court House Cupola painted, or else it will rot and fall down.

P. S. Painted last when built in 1846.

Washington Items

WASHINGTON, March 9.—In the House this morning Mr. Dean, of New York, made an ineffectual attempt to introduce a resolution instructing the Committee on Foreign Affairs to inquire into outrages recently committed at Havana on the persons and property of American citizens.

Demonstrances against the Nebraska bill were presented.

The House then went into committee on the Minnesota land bill.

In the Senate several remonstrances against the Nebraska bill were presented.

Mr. Walker reported back the homestead bill with the unanimous recommendation of the Committee, and it was made the special order for Monday.

WASHINGTON, March 10.—The bills making Dubaque and Keokuk, in Iowa, ports of delivery passed.

The coroner's jury, in the case of Dr. Gardiner, have just brought in their verdict that the deceased came to his death by means of strychnine and bruchnine, administered by himself.

The analysis of the stomach shows a large quantity of strychnine. The powder found in the pockets of the deceased was also strychnine; all of which facts place the cause of his death beyond a doubt.

The House this morning passed a resolution unanimously requesting the President to communicate any information he may have received touching the seizure of the steamer Black Warrior at Havana.

The Peruvian Minister has notified our government that the damages will be paid, growing out of the outrages at the Chincha Island, committed on the officers of the ship Despatch.

SUCKING AFFAIR.—John S. Milhouse, in Itchen county, Va., was killed by his father-in-law Richard Ankrum. Milhouse's wife had left his house with her family in consequence of finding some letters, addressed to her husband, from a woman residing in one of the Eastern cities, whom it appears, in his visits to the city to buy goods, he had carried and promised to marry. On the evening of his death he went to the house of Mr. Ankrum, and while there quarreled with his wife and struck her on the floor with his fist. Mr. Ankrum entered, and several blows were interchanged, which ended in Mr. Ankrum striking Milhouse to the heart.

C. L. FREEMAN & CO.

At the latest dates from Helena, Ark., Mr. Gerger, one of the counsel of the Martha Washington prisoners, had taken out a writ of habeas corpus.

WASHINGTON, March 13.

SENATE.—Mr. Stuart introduced a bill granting lands to Michigan for railroad purposes. The Speaker submitted to the House a communication from the Secretary in answer to the resolution of inquiry, stating that the steamers in the employ of the Ocean Mail service are not built in such manner as would render them reliable war steamers, in case they should be required for such service, though they could be made very useful as transports or privateers bearing small armaments.

A personal explanation was made by Messrs. Hunt and Lane, growing out of the exciting proceedings of Friday.

IT SHOULD BE UNIVERSALLY KNOWN—for it is strictly true—that indigestion is the parent of a large proportion of the fatal diseases. Dysentery, diarrhoea, cholera morbus, liver complaint, and many other diseases enumerated in the city inspector's weekly catalogue of deaths, are generated by indigestion alone. Think of that despicable thief of it all who suffers from disordered stomachs, and if you are willing to be guided by advice, founded upon experience, resort at once (don't delay) to Dr. C. M. Jackson, which, as an alternative, our attentive and invigorant, stands alone and unapproached. General depot, 120 Arch Street. We have tried these Bitters, and know that they are excellent for the diseases specified above.—Philadelphia City Item.

March 9, 1854 52-2t.

LIVER DISEASE.—CARTER'S SPANISH MIXTURE, as a remedy for liver disease, and the number of formidable evils connected with a disorganized state of that organ, is unrivaled.

Hundreds of certificates, from the highest sources, of persons living in the city of Richmond, Va., might be given of cures effected by Carter's Spanish Mixture. We have only room to refer to the extraordinary cure of Samuel Morris, Esq., of the firm of Drinker & Morris, Booksellers, Richmond, Va., who was cured by two bottles of Carter's Spanish Mixture, after three years suffering from diseased liver. He says its action on the blood is wonderful, better than all the medicine he had ever taken, and cheerfully recommends it to all.

An old lady made application to a ...lawyer to take her son; only seven years
...of age, and induce him into the mysteri-
...of legal lore, expressing her belief that ...he was better suited to that profession
...than any of the rest of her children.
Upon being asked her reason for this ...opinion, she answered: "Why you see
...sir, he is just seven years old to-day;
...when he was only five he'd like like na...ture; when he got to six, he was saucy and ...impudent as any critter could be, and
...now he'll steal every thing he can lay his ...hands on."

When a man enters a "show" cir...cus, theatre, concert, &c., he has to ...pay in advance, at the door, to see
...the fun.—When the subscribers to a
...Northern family paper, or a maga...zine, he has to send the money in ad...vance to secure the desired periodical.
But, generally, when he wants his ...country paper, he wants it on a credit,
...because, we suppose, he thinks "folks
...at home" can afford to wait. We ...believe that advance payments should ...be made the county paper first. We ...demand it in future.

Mrs. PANTINGTON.—"No, no," ex-
...claimed the old lady, as she wiped her ...tears, scratched her head with one of ...her knitting needles, and heaved a
...sigh. "No, no, you gals now-a-days
...want half so independent as they ...used to be in '76. Why, when my ...old man first set to making his re...solutions of me, 'you just oughter
...need him! One night marm and dad
...feeling kind o' sleepy, inquired to their ...chambers to seek their rest and be-
...getting in totally that the young
...ones was about, tuck the taller too,
...and left us in the dark. Well, the ...fire blazed and blazed, and Hiram
...looked at me and I to him, until my
...heart beat as loud as Sank's tail,
...till, against the floor, when all at ...once he riz up and reproaching to...wards me with a beaming smile
...peering benignly down the ripples of ...his placid countenance, he tuck my ...hand and fell straight down on his ...knees. He impeached me to except ...him, for all the world like the heroics
...of the yaller-kivered povvies. Oh
...dear but them was the blessed times!
...And the old lady 'cast the shadow
...from her brow, and recommenced
...pling her needles on like's sock.

A COOL DUELIST.—A duelist enter...ed the Cafe Francaise, situated on ...the Boulevard, at the corner of the
...Sue Laffite, and glancing scornfully
...at all present: "I should find no
...one here," he said "disposed to cross
...swords this morning." "You are
...mistaken sir," replied a gentleman
...in spectacles, "give me your card."
On the card was the name of Count
...de—. The gentleman in specta-
...cles gave his, he was the Marquis
...de—. "Count said the marquis
...in a tone of quiet banter, "I never put ...myself out of my way; on no account
...do I deviate from my habits; I'm late;
...we will not fight, therefore, till noon
...to-morrow!" Then he called the wait-
...er, "Here," he said, handing him
...the Counts card, "take these two ...thousand francs, go to the undertak-
...ers, and order a first-class funeral for
...the gentleman whose name and title
...are on this card for the day after to...morrow. The count shall be buried
...as if he were a marquis." This cool-
...ness danted the duelist, and the af...fair was arranged.
